"That's The Way"

Don't need no anyone
Don't need anybody talk to me
About handling relationships
It seems like everyone

It seems like everybody
I think I really doubt I'd use their advice
And tips but that's the way I was falling
And that's the way I was falling

And the way although it's just begun
I've heard enough already
I feel I'm all worn out only just begun
This trip this phenomenon

Which happens naturally something you hear
About more than just companionship
I remember when it was breaking my heart even though
Then I was falling apart, even though
