For once I wasn't hanging over
The cliffs on which I normally awoke
And then you thought you'd make me stronger
By pointing out the long way down
The long way down
I've been thrown
I'm looking up
But all I can head is down
All I can head is down
I've been thrown
I'm reaching out
But all I can head is down
All I can head is down
To one percent
It tries so hard to flip me back over
Stranded once again on my shell
Left me to my weak defenses
Then told me of the long way down
The long way down
I've been thrown
I'm looking up
But all I can head is down
All I can head is down
I've been thrown
I'm reaching out
But all I can head is down
All I can head is down
To one percent
I've been thrown
I'm looking up
But all I can head is down
All I can head is down
I've been thrown
I'm reaching out
But all I can head is down
All I can head is down
To one percent
