Went to a party just the other day with all of you
Fresh off the road and pretty tired
Didn't have to worry cause the ice is always broken
As we catch each others eyes across the fire

Had a couple of drinks and a conversation
About what's going on beneath the surface
Told you how hard it was and I know you really listen
And you make me see it's all worth it
And once again it feels so good to be with friends like you

You are the ones
You are the reason I'm not scared to step into the fight
You are the soul you are the hope
You are the carriers of the light

I'd never write a song this true
Never be me without you

Walked down the hall past the kitchen with the slate blue walls
More going on than meets the eye
Things were transforming
There was smoked and I passed through it
When it cleared I could hear the dance music
The dance music the dance music

You are the ones
You are the reason I'm not scared to step into the fight
You are the soul you are the hope
You are the carriers of the light

I'd never write a song this true
Never be me without you

You are you are you are carrying the light
You are you are you are carrying carrying

You are the ones
You are the reason I'm not scared to step into the fight
You are the soul you are the hope

You are the carriers of the light

Youuu yooouuu

I'd never write a song this true

Never be me without you
