I can't know what you feel inside
But your face can't hide your foolish pride
Keep in mind all you left behind
Was in chains that bind, is that a sign?

I can't read what you keep inside your mind
Protecting what I find within your walls
Things I feel that I know just can't be real
Trick and try to steal my life away

Cold deception goes both ways
Watch yourself or you'll get bathed
In the darkness that is light
As your spirit dies tonight

Tell you something
I know I must be strong
For you're giving me something
That I know is wrong

I can't know what you feel inside
But your face can't hide your foolish pride
Keep in mind all you left behind
Was in chains that bind, is that a sign?

Your intentions become clear
All deceptions disappear
The inception of your plan
Marks the end of modern man

I'll tell you something
I know I must be strong
For you're giving me something
That I know is wrong
