"Blacklines To Battlefields"

Hard times, the throw is offline
pictures of black and gray soft minds backed up my hard drives standing in single file anything to pass the test you passed the test

Like screaming in the air
A sound for all who care
The siren rings in vain
When lighting hits the ground to all who stand around,
a shock of ignorance

Black lines can turn to battlefields when they are drawn in pen Stop signs, like human apathy can cause a fatal crash (crash)

Like screaming in the air
A sound for all who care
The siren rings in vain
When lightning hits the ground to all who stand around,
a shock of ignorance

The feeling hard to tell A word can break the spell

Hard times, the throw is offline
pictures of black and gray

Like screaming in the air
A sound for all who care
When lightning hits the ground
A shock to all around, to all around Like screaming, screaming, screaming
The lightning, lightning, lightning
