

Golden Smog "Never Felt Before"

Visit "Never Felt Before" on MotoLyrics.com

Is it on or in the air tonight
Or is this just a station on the way
Cannon come to know we're on an endless flight
Won't come down again till All Souls Day

Spend your days, your time's unfazed
Passed out on a floor
Lost remains were claimed the names
Of something you ain't never felt before

I know a star that shines but not so bright
Its nights like these, they will fall out of the sky
She loves it all, just not herself tonight
Sleeps but never dreams and wonders why

The river bends, refuse descend
All washed up on the shore
The turnings seems like twisted scenes
Of something you ain't never felt before

You never felt before
You never felt before

The best made plans like planes are standing
Tumble through the hour glass
And all those things you've come to hate
Are gone

And hope won't bring her 'round again
She's yours until the bitter end
And all those things you've come to hate
Are gone

Something you ain't never felt before

You never felt before
You never felt before

Dying to breathe life into a photograph
Human you to pass, where did you go

