No more weeping
No more wailing
No more fooling
No more failing
I believe in good prevailing
I think it's time for a change
There will be no end
There was no beginning
I was made
I was made
I was made for better things

They will shame and blame and curse you
Break your bones and steal your virtues
I will be cut from this curfew
I was made for better things

There will be no end
Because there was no beginning
I was made
I was made
I was made for better things

When the truth at last is spoken
Every chain must be broken
And the gate will open
And I will walk amount kings

There will be no end
Because there was no beginning
I was made
I was made
I was made for better things

Somewhere far above this tower
I can see a higher power
And I know that in my darkest hour
I was made for better things, Oh

There will be no end, no there won't
Because there was no beginning

I was made
I was made
I was made for better things

Yes, I was made
For better things
