I am so close sweating my luck all out when it comes down to this it drips down in drops so crawl out. set it aside cause all this pressure is blurring my sight a struggle within me that forces me to wrap up myself in shrouds

hard luck will die hard!

searching for the light for too many times
there may be a truth that i cant seem to find so i swallowed down my digust.

i cant ?find my peace.

this is the sacrifice. the price i pay. time is running out in every second my head is so close to explode there is something within me thats driving the luck out of me.

when all after all its all the same
