

Brian Doerksen

"Here He Comes"

Visit "Here He Comes" on MotoLyrics.com

Here he comes the boy who tried to vanish to the future
or the past
Is no longer here with his sad blue eyes
Here he comes he floated away and as he rose above reason
He rose above the clouds he was seven feet high Here he comes the night is like a glove and he's floating like a dove
That catches the wind in the deep blue sky Here he comes the boy who tried to vanish to another time
Is no longer here with his sad blue eyes.

Here he comes here he comes Here he comes the boy who tried to vanish to another place
Sees us following him all one at a time Here he comes and we're checking out each others supplies
And looking at the eyes of all the others standing in the line
Here he comes the night is like a glove and he's floating like a dove
With his deep blue eyes in the deep blue sky
Here he comes the boy who tried to vanish to the future
or the past
Is no longer alone among the dragonflies
Here he comes here he comes.

Who will remember him?

Visit Brian Doerksen page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.