This is the last time
This time I know I'm done
I have a purpose
That's what I tell myself

Oh, sometimes I try to think that you are something I don't need
I try to tell myself you're gone
It's the day before you leave
And I'm sure that you'd come back if I could offer you
some change
I'd have to promise you, but I can't promise you

I'm sure you'll have some plans if I just go Move to the west coast
See something else for once

Oh, sometimes I try to think that you are something I
don't need
I try to tell myself you're gone
It's the day before you leave
And I'm sure that you'd come back if I could offer you
some change
I'd have to promise you, but I can't promise you

Over and over
It hasn't worked so you're better off alone

Oh, sometimes I try to think that you are something I
don't need
I try to tell myself you're gone
It's the day before you leave
And I'm sure that you'd come back if I could offer you
some change
I'd have to promise you, but I can't promise you

Over and over
It hasn't worked so you're better off alone
