

Good Religion

"The Hardest Part"

Visit "The Hardest Part" on MotoLyrics.com

I used to think you were on my side
We never found a place to hide
I let it go on too long like so many times before
I don't know where I should start
It seems like the hardest part
To take your pretty world and tear it all apart

Let it go I can't fix you anymore
Let it go time to be stronger than before
Let me go crying all the time
Let it go and trust me
It's not worth your waste of time

For the sake of sanity
Let's erase those memories
There's nothing left here that will take the pain away
There's no more mystery
Just too much history
Someday you'll understand it's really for the best

Connection rejection
Your tears won't carry me away
Completely forget me just let it go now
It's time to move on

Visit Good Religion page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.