Forget how you feel right now this is real a story for the reel Rewind and play it back you had to take that pill enforce a conscious drill Think back and find it fills with unsettling facts remember who you are relax sit back And find out what's in store for you don't you know the words that you're saying Are attracting moths to this flame and they are dancing it look so impossible That we may never fall so hold on to your guns I fell out of love with the story about How it feels to be lost I'll make it out I swear even if it takes all night
This tale will end for me right now these walls are closing in and they're so quite The coldest heart lies in my bones like we thought this was something real Now that we're here no we can't stop I never thought I'd see my bag Packed at your door apart of me believes you're near me
No spoken words will save me from this lift my hands to the sky
It's going to be alright the worst is over a new chance for you love
