Yeah, I'm so lonely I wrote another song
I'm stuck at home here while things move right along
She found love out there she's never looking back
I cannot say the words cuz my heart is turning black

And you can make me eat those words
And bring me back to life
And you can make me out of my mind
And you can help me realize the meaning of my life
And you can make me open my eyes

I really don't appreciate the time she spent to look
I can count up all the days on one hand
The amount of time it took

So doctor, make her better
Make her halfway sane
And don't underestimate her twisted little games

And you can make me eat those words
And bring me back to life
And you can make me out of my mind
And you can help me realize the meaning of my life
And you can make me open my eyes

You're just happy to be free
Of the life you had with me
Your cold hands
And cold feet

(Yeah you're just happy to be free)

Will now be warmed by someone else
While I sit here by myself
If you leave
You leave for good

And you can make me eat those words
And bring me back to life
And you can make me out of my mind
And you can help me realize the meaning of my life
And you can

Oh, oh, oh~
