i say
you're always on my mind no matter where we currently reside or what your state of mind is on the matter of everything you're no good to me if we can not stay ourselves through this confusing mess we have to make this last would you rather wake up with me or without me? think about it and for you i'll do the same our lives might change but hopefully the feelings stay i'll take the road less commonly traveled my choices seem to interrupt our lives and state of mind on the matter of everything

the same way

i know we'll be just fine we only need some time to think things through (I know I need you)

(oh) we'll be just fine

would you rather wake up with me or without me?

you're no good to me if we can not stay the same
