ENGLISH TRANSLATION

It is raining on the city, from early on, and night falls quickly.

You have your lights switched off and your friends are on the screen.

And you are trying to forget, but the sound of the rain
Whispers my words to you and you want to hide.

And the rain...and the rain...and rain falls harder and harder

It is raining on the city, from early on, and night falls inside you.

Only the light of screen lights up the living room.
And you are trying to forget, but the sound of the rain
Reminds you of our secrets, and it drives you crazy.

And the rain...and the rain...and rain falls harder and harder

Close the door softly, like someone making an escape,
And come to the familiar hangout, that still stays up all night,
Just to cast a glance inside, so I will ask you for a light,
And if you have given up smoking, the drinks will be on me
