You called me on the phone, said you were leaving and you told me you were never coming home you took away the one thing that I lived for and left me in the world all alone

(Chorus)

I'm gettin' back to the business of livin' I've had enough of crying in my beer and I'll think about my yesterdays tomorrow and live today like you were never here

Lead

Well, I spent the last three years thinking about you just wondering where you were and what I did wrong no one seems to give me simple answers like that somebody done somebody wrong song
