My eyes well with tears as Iâ€™m pinned to the floor
Pants fill with fear, help at the throat by an attack dog
A blood curdling cackle emits from a shadow at the door

I try to struggle loose but feel a tightening jaw Thrown in the cellar and violently kicked about Pummelled in my ribs, back, sides, head and mouth
'I needed his stereo and his widescreen TV
To sell down the pubs for crack money

Bewildered and faint after a blow to the head
A deeply cut gash spewing forth crimson-red Tightly bound arms pulled all the way up my back Hysterical screams of anguish drown out the nauseating cracks
Straps me to a bench with rusty hooks pushed through my skin
Assisted suicide-suspension of a reluctant victim
As I start to go limp from the insufferable pain
Iâ€™m awoken with a whack so I donâ€™t miss a thing

It doesnâ€™t seem real when my craniumâ€™s scalped
Or my nose is shattered, or my teeth pulled out
Lost in a dark place, giving up on life
Awaiting my fate from the flash of a knife
A glance to the walls reveals blades and saws
If I didnâ€™t know better Iâ€™d say heâ€™d done this before
A flick of his wrist, therâ€™s no going back
The last thing I see before it all goes black

An easy, cushy life never had to graft
I just turned out wrong and wasted every chance I was given, so Iâ€™m finally getting what was coming to me
Excruciating pain and agony

It doesnâ€™t seem real when my craniumâ€™s scalped
Or my nose is shattered, or my teeth pulled out
Lost in a dark place, giving up on life
Awaiting my fate from the flash of a knife

A glance to the walls reveals blades and saws
If I didn't know better I'd say he'd done this
A flick of his wrist, there's no going back
The last thing I see before it all goes black

An amorphous bloody body, violated and left to rot
Face down in the corner, another number now forgot
