Home again,
I've been away for so long
Lost somewhere, my destination unknown

Mile after mile
I tried to run from myself
Knowing that time is a healer to what I have dealt

But now I know that time has come to face the truth
I can't escape the shadows of the past
Here I am, I'm just a man, so forgive me now

N' now that I'm ready to fight
I'll prove to you I was right
If you got nothin' better to say
I'll be on my way...
Should have known
All though I knew from the start
Right & wrong, no they don't get along

To many rhymes and wasted times with you my friend
I'll let you know I've learned my lesson well
I'll take control, relieve my soul, to my destiny

N' now that you know I can fight
I proved to you I was right
If you got nothin' better to say
Then I'll be on my way...

But now I know that time has come to face the truth
I can't escape the shadows of the past
Here I am, I'm just a man, so forgive me now

N' now that I'm ready to fight
I'll prove to you I was right
If you got nothin' better to say
I'm ready for Judgment Day...
