Its heavy-lay your burden down
Its heavy-lay your burden down
Brother can't you see stars in the night
Brother can't you see stars in the night
There's a road up yonder far beyond the light
Take a ride this morning on a slow train through the sky
Take a ride this morning on a slow train through the sky
My life is just a fast train, gone in the blink of an eye
Its heavy-lay your burden down
Its heavy-lay your burden down
Felt the hand last Sunday when the stars refuse to shine
Felt the hand last Sunday when the stars refuse to
shine
Im just a young man, I don't feel like dying
Its heavy-lay your burden down
Its heavy-lay your burden down
Cant you hear the angels screaming or is it all in my head
Cant you hear the angels screaming or is it all in my
head
Looking out my window and the sky is blood red
The sky is blood red
You got to lay your burden down
