(G. Thomas)

Go hide - hide from the sun go hiding from everyone
you live your life on the run still you go nowhere Now turn - turn to the past and see that dream - how it's fading fast
you don't know
when that spell was cast
but your heart died there.
So you say a prayer
and search everywhere...
Now you're here...
Here in Shadowland
I'm calling
Though the words I cry
fall on deaf ears You're always searching for a new light falling Every light you find falls through your hands and disappears
You live, but life is no fun
You live your life for everyone You can't see how things couldn't be the way they've always been But more than anything else you've got to learn -

learn to love yourself There's no greater source of light than the light within...
No time to pretend -
it's your life - begin!
or be here...

(refrain)

Oh, shadows of dreams
Shadows of doubt Shadows of things that would never work out Shadows of visions of what might have been

but will never be You're not alone
most of the time
You know everyone
Do you know your own mind?
Here in the shadows
safe from the light of reality (refrain)
