If I could paint the whitest winter morning.
If I could paint the brightest bluest sky
If I could grasp the beauty in a moment
And describe the way it makes me feel inside
But the words are just so empty And my drawing's not complete
So once again
I stand alone and say
It's so amazing, truly amazing
and my heart is overflowing and complete
It's so amazing, truly amazing
and now I know the greatest gift of all
If I could paint a newborn baby sleeping Paint a mother's love for her child Oh if only I could capture all those feelings And photograph the beauty with my eyes Oh the love and the joy and the giving Sometimes I can't help myself and cry

It's so amazing, truly amazing
and my heart is overflowing and complete
It's so amazing, truly amazing
and now I know the greatest gift of all Once again, I surrender Cause I can tell myself
I stand amazed, by dove and grace So grateful for all I have
It's so amazing, truly amazing
and my heart is overflowing and complete
It's so amazing, truly amazing
and now I know the greatest gift of all
It's so amazing, truly amazing
and my heart is overflowing and complete
It's so amazing, truly amazing
and now I know the greatest gift of all
