You're running me ragged
And I don't do the things I should
And if the devil made a fire
You'd be the wood

But I just got one question
Answer me if you could
How can so much trouble
Look so goddamn good?

Look at the way that you've been living
Look at the love you should be giving
Look at what tomorrow left behind

Look at the life that you've been missing
Look at the girl you could be kissing
Look at what happened in the meantime

You gotta get yourself back home
Before I find you, I kindly remind you

So come sit down beside me
With a dollar and a dime
And we'll drink away our fortunes
Here's to the meantime

Look at the way that you've been living
Look at the love you could be giving
Look at what tomorrow left behind

And look at the life that you've been missing
Look at the girl you should be kissing
Look at what happened in the meantime

You gotta get yourself back home
Before I, I find you, I kindly remind you, baby

Look at the way that you've been living
Look at the love you should be giving
Look at what tomorrow left behind

Look at the life that you've been missing

Look at the girl you could be kissing
Look at what happened in the meantime

You gotta get yourself back home
Before I, I find you, I kindly remind you, baby
