"When Something Goes To Your Head"

It doesn't matter if it's something
As long as it's anything
When something goes to your head
It's all just the latest craze
Then she said, "You're a better fantasy than a reality"

What a way to start the week
(What a whore she was)
Monday was the first kiss for the second time
She's the cuts that just won't heal

What I sing today
What will it mean tomorrow
What I scream
What does it bring today?

We walk arm in arm
But I'm just an accessory
Baggage to give her
The polish she thrives for
