From your blood just one drop has a billion strands of DNA. The building blocks of life.
DNA strands are like blueprints for a living thing,
sometimes animals like dinosaurs go extinct.
Since it's so old, its full of holes.
That's where are geneticists take over.
me on a where the fuck did you come from?
Left blueprints behind for us to find,
we just had to know where to look.
Thinking machine supercomputers and gene sequencers
break down the strand in fucking seconds
