All of the innocence has gone away Son, someday you'll be a man all of the air I breathe has aftertaste Son, someday you'll understand
I'm looking off in the distance beyond the Neon lights
I can see all the world tonight all of the memories are locked away soon someday you'll take 'em down all of this waiting for my big parade soon someday it's coming to town
I'm looking off in the distance beyond the Neon lights
I can see all the stars are out tonight
I'm missing all my good friends
i promised i would write
I can see all the world tonight
I'm looking off in the distance beyond the Neon lights
I can see all the stars are out tonight
I'm missing all my good friends
i promised i would write
I can see all the moments passing by Yeah I'm looking above all the buildings and all the billboard sings
I can see all... all the world
all the world tonight
I can see everything...everything
