"First Week"

Are you far away in a new life?
Are you wearing the same dress
That you wore when we met the first night?
Are you feeling it in a different time?
Are you telling the same jokes
That you told me when we met the first time?

The first time how we slept with the light on
And the sun's coming up and we woke up on the floor
Everything that you feel that you can't describe
Why can't it be like the first week?

Am I far away in your thoughts sometimes?
Are you telling your friends that
You can't live without him like we met the first time?
Do you lie awake and wonder why?
Is it always the same thing or is this
Just a new dream that's keeping you up at night?

The first time how we slept with the light on
And the sun's comin' up and we woke up on the floor
All the things that you feel that you can't describe
Why can't it be like the first week?

I've been up and down your street calling your house
I won't wait up till you get home
I just maybe better off alone

Why can't it be like the first week?
Why can't it be like the first week?

The first time how we slept with the light on
And the sun's comin' up and we woke up on the floor
All the things that you feel that you can't describe
Why can't it be

The first night how we slept with the light off
All the stars shine above and all our clothes are on the floor
All the things that I feel that I can't describe
Why can't it be like the first week?

Are you far away in a new life?
Are you far away in a new life?
