Graham Colton Band
"Killing Me"

Visit "Killing Me" on MotoLyrics.com

The cars are passing down below
And all that's left of you is all your clothes
You left your key, the TV's on Our picture's face down by the alarm clock radio

The only thing you ever wanted was for me to be here to stay but now you've gone away

I really don't know if it'd make it all better
But I'll let myself go and put it in a letter to you

I know I've been stupid and don't have a reason
But I'm tryin not to ruin the one thing I believe in you
It's killing me, killing you
I remember how you drove me mad
Spend half the night trying to steal it back

You'd leave your rings and jewelry by the bath
Waking up the bed sheet's gone

I wish I could pick up the phone and tell you how I'm feeling
The only thing you ever wanted was for me to be here to stay
And tell you how I've changed
But now you've gone away
I'd tell you everything

I really don't know if it'd make it all better
Cause I know I've been stupid and don't have a reason
But I'll let myself go and put it in a letter to you
But I'm tryin not to ruin the one thing I believe in you
It's killing me, killing you

Cause you're all that I want, (you pleaded)
And you're all that I need (I need it)
Now that you're gone I see it

I really don't know if it'd make it all better
But I'll let myself go and put it in a letter to you
Cause I know I've been stupid and don't have a reason
But I'm tryin not to ruin the one thing I believe in, it's you

I really don't know if it'd make it all better

It's killing me, killing you
But I'll let myself go and put it in a letter to you
Cause I know I've been stupid and don't have a reason
But I'm tryin not to ruin the one thing I believe in you
It's killing me, killing you