Some say that life you can't rewind
Even when time is on your side
Some say that pain it makes you strong
And you find the strength to carry on

Some say what's lost is never found
But I know your love comes back around

Some say that tears are meant to fall
Or what good is crying after all
There are mistakes you can't undo
Then they bring out the best in you

Some say what's lost will soon be found
But I know your love is all around

Some say what's lost is never found
But I know your love comes back around
Sometimes your feet can leave the ground
Always it's love that holds you down
Some say what's lost is never found
I know your love comes back around
I know your love is all around
Always your love comes back around
