Looks like history's repeating
I don't learn from my mistakes
I can feel water rising
A wave will always break

I want to take you back
Back to where we started
Before the lights had changed
Words we didn't get to say
Seem to hit the hardest
It's just a memory, that's all that's ever coming back to me

Now the heart you are defending
Has guards that I can't kill
Why can't you see the happy ending
Embrace you standing still?

I want to take you back
Back to where we started
Before the lights had changed
Words we didn't get to say
Seem to hit the hardest
It's just a memory, that's all that's ever coming back

Too defeated, that you could be so far gone
That I can't find you
I'm too defeated, that you could leave
Every little piece of me behind you
The picture's in your head, you won't forget
Reminding you of me

[Incomprehensible]
[Incomprehensible]
[Incomprehensible]

And I want to take you back
Back to where we started
Before the lights had changed
Words we never get to say
Always hit the hardest
And I would never be

And I want to take you back
Back to where we started
Before everything changed
Words I never got to say
Still hit me the hardest
It's just a memory that's all that's ever coming back

I know you're never coming back
I know you're never coming back
