Wow, there that goes
Baby, she's a hatin', slamming doors
And the problem is her man
He just don't understand

She's needing him, but
He's outside wondering why
And how he lucked out
To finally find a baby that's all
Different kinds of crazy, just like him

When you're locked out
Who's gonna let you in?

She shines like a halo light
And then burns the whole place down
He's chasing the time of his life
But it's going on right now
Let it shine, let it ride, crash and burn

Then later on
Crazy came through the door and said
"Life is short and I'm sorry, I love you to death Damn, Johnny Carson died tonight"

And then
They both start jumping around
Baby and her friends are all hanging out

It's amazing how everyone can feel
You're born, you live and you're gone
Oh, it's all too real

She shines like a halo light
And then burns the whole place down
He's chasing the time of his life
But it's going on right now
Let it shine, let it ride, crash and burn

Just another night for the lonely
Living out love as war
They can't remember

What they're fighting for, no

She shines like a halo light
And then burns the whole place down
He's chasing the time of his life
But it's going on right now
Let it shine, let it ride, crash and burn

She shines like a halo light
He's chasing the time of his life
Let it ride, let it shine
Let it shine, let it ride, crash and burn
