I see the light of day
Quickly fade into the background
Of what is now grey
It's a hope deferred a right from wrong
It's a melody of an unsung
A legacy that was bought in gold
A time and place where the people are told
There's no truth, there's no life
There's no love, there's no way
To Love You is to know You

I'm waiting, I'm holding on
How I need Your love
Yes I need Your love again
I'm waiting I'm holding on for the final day
When You will come again

Quickly stop the lies of the fleeting path

To undispute compromise
It's the future going to the past
Searching and longing for reality to last
It's one more day living in disgrace
We forget we will soon see His face
To know his truth, to know His life
Know His love to know his way
To Know You is to love You

You brought me to this point
Waiting for Your return
And I know Your coming back
To complete in me what I lack

I'm waiting for Your truth
I'm waiting for light
I'm waiting for You
You to make things right
