Yeah is where I never lie
Especially those times that I
Told you how I felt inside
Back when my door was open wideahhhh ahhh ahhh ahhh
Back before I locked it up
You knew I loved you very much
But something in me had enough
And suddenly the door just shut
Now I can't care whos at the door
And they can knock forever more
But I wont open up unless Ive straightened up my every mess
So put your head against the boards
Youll hear the echo of the words
I used to say to you
Before I disappeared behind the door.
