I wonder where you've been While the walls were closing in
If I could go on Pretending this was always wrong

Now I wonder who you'll turn to
When it starts to bring you down

Mark my words I will never bleed for you
Not if you don't want what you don't need from me
anyway

I'll miss your attitude
I'll miss the way you quickly change your moods
That look in your eyes
And the way you flash your fake plastic smile

Now I wonder where your gonna run to
When it leaves you down and [out?]

Mark my words I will never bleed for you
I know you don't want what you don't need from me anyway [now that you?]
I spent too much time on my knees for you
Now my hands are washed from drowning in your sea
Consider yourself set free

Now I wonder who you'll run to
When it starts to bring you down

Not if you don't want what you don't need from me
I spent too much time on my knees if only for you
Now my hands are washed from drowning in your sea
I tell you mark my words this is the last you'll hear from me
Consider yourself set free
