I know I've tried... But I always come up short, and now this time.

I'm gonna sail and leave the port.

I'm moving closer, to the line I was to scared to cross,
Cause after, the pain is gone, and time is lost.

Wait for me, another year will come with patients.

I found that where I am, is what I need. So wait for me

I know I'm tired... But that doesn't stop the flame from burning higher.

I took a gamble for true love and lost desire.

As for now, I'll read this note you wrote.

Wait for me, another year will come with patients.

I found that where I am, is what I need. So wait for me
x2

Why are you leaving me this way?

The skies rain with hostility.

But still I will wait for you till May.

Wait for me, another year will come with patients.

I found that where I am, is what I need. So wait for me

Wait for me, another year has come, and you see,

That all I am. Is all you need. to wait for me.
