Countdown until the time we're together

But then what does that mean?

Just another place to hang around

Those eyes that fill me up with a longing

Taking over my life

Look at me like I can't do a thing

Do you want to tell me

How much it is you need me

Or are you saying you would rather be alone?

Do you want to tell me

How, when you're around me

You're scared of taking down a heart besides your own?

Uptight from time to time

Is it something or the state of your mind

Or is it simply the way it is?

Upset, small wonder why

With the kinds of words you want to know

Why make it that much harder just to live?

Do you want to tell me

How much it is you need me

Or are you saying you would rather be alone?

Do you want to tell me

How, when you're around me

You're scared of taking down a heart besides your own?

Countdown until the time we're together

But then what does that mean?

Just another place to lose my pride

Those eyes that lead the way to a price

Despite being harder to pay

Guarantees that I'll be satisfied

Do you want to tell me

How much it is you need me

Or are you saying you would rather be alone?

Do you want to tell me

How, when you're around me

You're scared of taking down a heart besides your own
