I love my cat, she's a wonderful one
But she drives me mad
I poked out her eye and then her eye
And now she's dead

And in the night the house burnt down
I feel so guilty, it makes me frown
I see a shadow hanging in the moon
And I start drinking until noon

I see the black cat
I see this devil on my wall
I see the black cat
I feel like dying after all

One day a new one stepped into my life
Loved by me and my wife
I remember the past, tried to do the same
And I don't know my name

And once again I feel this bloody spell
I kill my wife and bury her well
This perverse madness has taken control
Now I'm imprisoned with this broken soul

I see the black cat
I see the black cat
I see the black cat
I see the black cat

I see the black cat
And I murder my wife and split her head
I see the black cat
I'm going crazy and now she's dead
I see the black cat
I see this devil on the wall
I see the black cat
I feel like dying after all

I see the black cat
And I murder my wife and split her head
I see the black cat

I'm going crazy and now she's dead
