All my troubles have found me today
"when will I hit the ground? " I hear myself say
But I just keep on falling weightless and half asleep
But I know someday those troubles will be mine to keep Right now I'll put it off right now I will be shoving off

Downwardspiral

I have always heard you pay for your mistakes
But what currency will be accepted at that gate?
Have I cried enough? have I thought about it enough?
What's going to count when the road turns rough?
