Her temporary husband said I better stay away
He said I don't care what you heard in the courtroom today
And eventhough I never really figured in her life
I can still makes things hurt for my soon-to-be ex-wife

Her temporary husband said
You can stop worrying when I'm dead

So now my girl and I we have to live out this lie
She doesn't want me hurt and I don't think I want to die Cause I've seen the work he's done when someone gets in his way
Maybe we will get a chance to visit him in jail someday

Her temporary husband said
You can stop worrying when I'm dead

He wants us to believe his lie
But every night we pretend he's not alive

Her temporary husband said
You can start laughing when I'm dead
