Bloody red glow came into sight to brighten
Dense darkness of night up
Gods gave rise to a new war!
This war is not just a war-
Today brothers kill each other!
Treason has reared itself a throne
Enemy poisoned our people's souls
By deceit and damnation...
Bloody glows brighten the night up
Echoes brought cry of dying men
We were looking and waiting
Ready to fight
Ready to inflict deadly blows!
Strange god brought treason
Poisoning hearts of many brave warriors!
Every day was bringing pain and disease
Dark clouds covered the sky
Wind brought the smell of blood
Dark clouds covered the moon up
Our hearts froze
We heard voices of death
Waiting for our day
We prepared sharp arrows and swords
Today Gods give us a sign:
We can take revenge now
Feeling cold touch of our swords
Enemy will learn what fear is
Let rivers of blood be our work
Strangers brought false faith
They turn against our native Gods
They will be damned forever
And their faith will burn with them in hell!
It is time to leave the forest
Daybreak is coming
It is time to start a battle
Under a cover of morning fog
I heard a voice talking to me:
Faithfulness is your honour
Sons of fire and steel
Never forget these words !

The wind came out of the cloud by night
And blew ashes about long ago
Shiny swords in the past
Are covered by rust now
And who remembers these olden days
Days of victory and glory
Or of disgrace and collapse
Who remembers... heroes
That died spilling their blood
To protect native faith and land
One can hear their voices today
They are still fighting
Sons of fire and steel...
