

Gravity Kills "Forget Your Name"

Visit "Forget Your Name" on MotoLyrics.com

I want to shake your disease
Open up and you'll see
Open up and you'll see

I forget your name but I need you, too
I forget your name, I know you're feeling the same
Well I forget your name but I love you
I forget your name but I want you, want you

You can try to push me away
Doing your best at being my slave
Walking around with nothing to show
And now you're down on your knees
They will never know, never know
You want to shake my disease
Open up and you'll see
Open up and you'll see
I forget your name but I need you, too
Well I forget your name but I love you
I forget your name, I know you're feeling the same
I forget your name but I want you, want you

And I think that it's gone to your head
And I hang on every word you've said
And you know I think it's gone to your head

Because I hang on every word you've said
Everything's fake and nothing is real
Everything is what everything seems
All of your shit is turning to dust
Breaking the back of all that you trust
Well I forget your name but I love you
I forget your name but I need you, too

I forget your name but I need you, too
I forget your name, I know you're feeling the same
I forget your name but I want you, want you
Well I forget your name but I love you
I forget your name but I want you, want you
I forget your name, I know you're feeling the same

