I Haven't seen you in a long time

Since I've been gone

It always seemed to be the wrong time

Its the same old song

Looks like we'll never be together

Our whole life through

There might be changes in the weather

But not for me and you.

Can you hear me, when I'm calling out to you?

Can you see me, sometimes in the night

When you put out the light?

I haven't seen you in a long time

Since you put me away

I only see you in my dream time,

At the break of day

I know I never ever listen,

My whole life through.

If I had heard your words of wisdom,

I could be with you.

Can you feel me,

When he's making love to you?

Can you hear me,

When your alone, when you hang up the phone,

When it's real late at night, and you put out the light!

I still see you

And I still feel you

And when I'm alone

My mind starts to roam

You come in the night

When I turn out the light

I haven't seen you in a long time

Since I've been gone

It always seemed to be the wrong time

It's the same old song

Looks like we'll never be together

Our whole life through

There might be changes in the weather

But not for me and you.
