"When I Am King"

Wake up, without a care. Your head's not heavy, conscience clear
Sins are all forgiven here, yours and mine Fear has gone without a trace
It's the perfect time, it's the perfect place Nothing hurting. Nothing sore. No one suffers anymore,
The doctor's found a simple cure.
Just in time

[Chorus]

All these things if I were King would all appear around me
The world will sing when I am King
The world will sing when I am King

She walks right in she don't even knock. It's the girl you lost to the high school jock She shuts the door and turns the lock, and takes your hand.
She says she always felt a fool, for picking the Captain over you
She wonders if you miss her, says she always told her sister
That you're the best damn kisser
That she's ever had (Chorus)

Daylight waits to shine until the moment you awaken
So you never miss the dawn
No question, now, you know which road you're taking Lights all green, the radio plays just the perfect song

Well, the war's been won. All the fights are fought You find yourself in just the spot
It's a place where everybody's got a song to sing.
Just like the final movie scene. The prince will find his perfect queen
The hero always saves the world. The villains get what they deserve
The boy will always get the girl

When I am King
(Chorus x2)
