There's a fire in the study, whisper in the dark
Colors burning brighter, hunger for a spark Shadow thrown from light unknown, calling on the hearts

To challenge the alive, and summon the asleep
And the sun sinks over the big smoke
And the sky explodes on the shuddering lake

There's a new wild feeling dancing in the air
There's a new wild everywhere
There's a new wild feeling dancing in the air
There's a new wild everywhere

Rocks jump and jitter, and push surface roots
Dream up clay and water, and simmer up the shoots
The weather breaks, the spirit shakes, and something switches on
Running independent, rushing out and gone
And the sun sinks over the big smoke
And the sky explodes on the shuddering lake

There's a new wild feeling dancing in the air
There's a new wild everywhere
There's a new wild feeling dancing in the air
There's a new wild everywhere

Fly up to the heavens, anchored in the clouds
Fly beyond the night, above the blooming sounds
The bass and cries, neon lights pushing and light
Taking flight to Raven Heights to turn on and shine
And the sun sinks over the big smoke
And the sky explodes on the shuddering lake

There's a new wild feeling dancing in the air
There's a new wild everywhere
There's a new wild feeling dancing in the air
There's a new wild everywhere
