You leave home 'cause it brings you down
No attention from a sleepy Midwest town
Make you way to the center stage
A spotlight makes it justifiable rage

It's reinvention as celebrity
Don't touch, just look at me
I say, oh no, never trust a pretty face
Oh no, never trust a pretty face

You said baby put your trust in me
When darkness fall I will always help you see
Stole the key from tomorrow's door
You had it all but you only wanted more

Sold your soul for the company
You went and took advantage of me
I say, oh no, never trust a pretty face
Oh no, never trust a pretty face
That's all

A silent face in a magazine
You learn to lie as you sell the world a dream
Listen now for the drop of a name
A steppin' stone on the stairway to fame

I only saw what I wanted to see
I let my heart make a fool outta me
I say, oh no, never trust a pretty face
Oh no, never trust a pretty face

Oh no, no, no, never trust a pretty face
Oh no, oh no, never trust a pretty face
