If this is it, then what's the point of living
Without any hope
We know that there is more
Than what we see

A reason for being here
Will we give in and let it suffocate us?
Will we breathe?

We know we're worth more than they tell us
So we search to find the truth
Could it be that the answer's right in front of our eyes

If all we are is a mistake then
What's the point in all of this
We won't believe the lies that they are telling
We won't believe the lies

We're told that there is Nothing sacred about the life we have
What will it take for us to see
Beyond our circumstance?

If all we are is a mistake then
What's the point of all of this
We won't believe the lies that they are telling
We won't believe the lies

Will we sit back and settle for
A cheap imitation?
Will we sit back and settle for
A cheap imitation?

If all we are is a mistake then
What's the point in all of this
We won't believe the lies that they are telling
We won't believe the lies

If all we are is a mistake then
What's the point in all of this
We won't believe the lies they are telling
We won't believe the lies

It's so hard to see our way
It's so hard
