I can't believe that evil like this exists will she ever learn to trust again? now that her innocence is lost will she ever be the same again?

She not the same girl, she'll never be the same again
thanks to them she'll never feel safe again and she hides her face because of what they've done to her, she'll never feel safe again

She prays to God that he would hear her cries will she ever learn to hope again?
all she knows is this fear inside
will she ever be the same again?

She not the same girl, she'll never be the same again
thanks to them she'll never feel safe again
and she hides her face because of what they've
done to her, she'll never feel safe again
thanks to them, she'll never feel safe again.

If she only knew that she could find love again if she only knew that she could find hope again

She prays to God that he would hear her cries
will she ever learn to hope again?
will she ever be the same again?

Father send your angels to her Father hear us
