I can't believe that evil like this exists
Will she ever learn to trust again?
Now that her innocence is lost
Will she ever be the same again?

She not the same girl, she'll never be the same again
Thanks to them she'll never feel safe again
And she hides her face because of what they've
Done to her, she'll never feel safe again

She prays to God that he would hear her cries
Will she ever find hope again?
All she knows is fear inside
Will she ever be the same again?

She not the same girl, she'll never be the same again
Thanks to them she'll never feel safe again
And she hides her face because of what they've
Done to her, she'll never feel safe again
Thanks to them, she'll never feel safe again.

If only she knew that she could find love again
If only she knew that she could find hope again

She prays to God that he would hear her cries
Will she ever find hope again?
All she knows is fear inside
Will she ever be the same again?

Father send your angels to her
Father hear us
