One look in their eyes
And you should have seen that there is Nothing else that they want of you than
To feed on you, you know they just want your body
Now it's not so sexy

We tried to warn you about the dark
But you never listen to us anyway
They showed their fangs but you still stayed
You should have known that they were, they were thirsty

Wish I didn't have to talk to your grave
All the times that we tried to warn you
Just a little, little bit attracted to you
All the power that they had

We tried to warn you about the dark
But you never listen to us anyway
They showed their fangs because you still stayed
thirsty

Now it's over and you're dead
Now it's over there's nothing left of you

We told you not to, to ever go
Ever go out by yourself, c'mon
We told you not to
To never go out by yourself
Because they're out there, they're out there
They're waiting for, waiting for you

We tried to warn you about the dark
You never listen to us anyway
They showed their fangs because you still stayed
thirsty

We tried to warn you about the dark
But you never listen to us anyway
They showed their fangs because you still stayed

thirsty

Now it's over and you're dead
Now it's over there's nothing left
