a simple proposal is over and under my tongue, i refuse to speak it's all over now and it's tearing me up cause it's everyone else but me you and i had more to say today maybe there's a better way to cross your mind, baby please don't go if i'm being unconditional and i was meant to hold you please don't hold me up to the competition oh, when i was meant to breathe your air in (your air in...) your minute exceptions are holding me back i'm alone for your give and take and time has a right but you're losing your sight and calling it our mistake im taking a chance and i'm taking whats left of a love that ive learned to lose i'll give you my heart and ill give you my time but i'm begging you not to choose
you and i had more to say today
maybe there's a better way to cross your mind, baby
when i was meant to breathe your air in (your air in...) you're holding out and i will never know you're leaving your heart behind and pushing whats left away i've lost your touch, oh
and i was meant to hold you
when i was meant to breathe your air in (your air in...)
