Summer rain falling all around you
Washing all the doubts to the bone
In the madness this world it has created
Don't forget you're beautiful

If you get lost in the world lost in the world
I'll be there to find you
Give your heart and your soul, heart and your soul
I'll be here to find you
If you get lost in the world, lost in the world
I'll be there to find you

Just know I bleed like you, I bleed like you
Someday, somewhere will be a silver lining
Break through wars you're fighting here
We both know there is no easy way around
But through you'll hear my words ringing out

If you get lost in the world, lost in the world
I'll be there to find you
Give your heart and your soul, heart and your soul
I'll be here to find you
If you get lost in the world, lost in the world
I'll be there to find you

Just know I bleed like you, I bleed like you

There is no higher mountain I would climb
To rid you of the fear that rules your mind
There is no higher mountain I would climb
For you to see that I am on your side

There is no higher mountain I would climb
To rid you of the fear that rules your mind
There is no higher mountain I would climb
For you to see that I am on your side

There is no higher mountain I would climb
To rid you of the fear that rules your mind
Your mind...
